City gets air grant proposal

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City's crippled air pollution monitoring program left hanging in mid-air for the last seven months while city and state officials attempt to work out a new contract — has come closer to a conclusion.

The city's revamped air pollution division — no longer a separate department and trimmed by about 60 percent of its manpower — has received a tentative contract from the Illinois Environmental Agency (IEPA) for $10,936.

The federal government earlier revoked a $40,900 grant after reductions in the air pollution control staff here. The grant then was given to the state for redistribution back to the city as it deems appropriate.

The new agreement now awaits the approval of the Granite City Council and the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board.

The newly-issued state terms contain few surprises in a proposed city and state division of air monitoring responsibilities. If approved, however, the contract will extend only until the end of the state's budget year, June 30, 1982, according to Daniel Goodwin at the IEPA Division of Air Pollution Control.

The shortened grant time, covering the period from the date signed through June 30, apparently explains the comparatively small amount of the grant, expected to be about $25,000.

Although the state indicates a willingness to renew the contract beginning July 1, 1982, City Engineer

Monroe Brewer says the state cannot guarantee funding past Oct. 1, if the federal government has not determined by July what programs will be funded next year.

Brewer said he hopes the 1982-83 federal budget will be resolved before the city commits itself to a new contract.

The city engineer said if the state signs a contract in July, it would be "closer to the $25,000 we talked about." Brewer said he has discussed the new contract with the mayor, who will try to arrange a meeting of the council's air pollution control committee, prior to an Air Pollution Control Board session.

Last month, Alderman Casmer Skubish signed a letter calling for the suspension of the air pollution control division. The request also was signed by two other board members who turned in their resignations to the council.

Skubish has since asked that the resignations of J.R. Shanks and Board President R. William Roster Jr. be put on hold until Mayor Paul Schuler talks with the dissatisfied members. Board members are appointees of the mayor.

Both Skubish and the resigning board members had objected to the lack of adequate federal funding, in "light of the city's financial squeeze." Uncertainty exists whether or not the new contract will persuade air pollution control board members to remain.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer is proposing a $31,840 city air pollution control budget. He submitted the new tentative budget to the IEPA in

Tornado week brings grim reminders

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Vivid memories of last April's tornado which ripped through the Glenview, Lexington and Poston Beach areas, leaving 21 persons injured and in excess of $1.5 million damage in its wake, are liable to be rekindled in the minds of many local residents this week.

Tornado Preparedness Week starts today throughout Illinois. The Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (Civil Defense) will conduct its annual tornado drill Tuesday, according to Victor Koenig, CD director.

Many elements in the community will take part in the drill, including St. Elizabeth Medical Center, all local schools and weather watchers. Normal and emergency communication systems also will be tested.

Tuesday's exercise has added importance this year in the aftermath of the April 3, 1981, tornado, which crossed Granite City from East 23rd Street and Nameoki Road, traveled through Glenview Subdivision into the Lexington Subdivision and then jumped into the Steelecrest Subdivision before moving into Porton Beach.

In a matter of a few minutes, beginning at precisely 10:58 p.m. on Friday, April 3, the tornado, described by authorities as "relatively small," destroyed 13 homes in Granite City, damaged more than 102 other residences and a church and caused more than $40,000 in damage to local school buildings.

Fortunately, no lives were lost, but 21 persons sustained injuries and were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The disaster's after-effects were felt by hundreds more and points up the need for all residents to take time during Tuesday's drill to plan those actions which should be implemented during actual tornado conditions.

Tuesday's exercise is being conducted in cooperation with the National Weather Service and the Illinois State Police and will test the communication, warning and recovery capabilities in Granite City and all other areas of the state in preparation for the 1982 tornado season.

The drill will be initiated by the National Weather Service and then broadcast via State Police frequency 42.5 MHz and National Weather Service KDD-88 To Emergency Warning Alert Radio receivers in thousands of schools, institutions, hospitals and factories statewide, Koenig said.

Precise time of the drill when the network of warning sirens will be activated has not been announced in order to achieve some spontaneity in the test results, Koenig advised.

Key personnel involved in the exercise will take part in a critique or evaluation shortly after the drill concludes in the ESDA-CD Room at Granite City police headquarters, the director said.

Each year, tornadoes kill hundreds of people and thousands of homes are destroyed. Whole buildings disappear and only their basements are left.

Illinois is geographically located at the northeast edge of the most tornado prone region of the world.

Crime worldwide on the rise, speaker says

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The rate of serious crimes in the United States during the past 10 years has risen 55 percent, compared to a population increase during the same decade of only nine percent, Chief James P. Damos, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, said during a visit here Thursday night.

Startling comparisons were offered by the law enforcement officer, who stated, "A person today is six times more likely to be a victim of a violent crime than he is to get cancer, and eight times more likely to be a major crime victim than die of a heart problem."

Chief Damos was the featured speaker at the 10th annual family night of Explorer Post 104 Thursday evening. A total of 178 persons attended the event, held at the Madison Memorial Center.

He said he was quoting from 1980 statistics, and believes the 1981 figures, when compiled, will show an even greater increase. "In the United States during 1980, there were 40 million major and violent crimes committed," he said.

"This figure is 14 times the number of high school graduates in this country, one-half the total number of people who vote in elections and is equal to all of the people who attend major league baseball games throughout the country in a year's time," he added.

Noting that one out of every three households encountered a major or violent crime in some form during 1980, Damos pointed out that this means 24 million households were affected.

Continuing to quote crime statistics, Chief Damos stated "In the United States a major crime is committed every two seconds, a murder every 23 minutes, a robbery every 58 seconds, a burglary every eight seconds and a major theft every four seconds.

"If you combine all law enforcement officers from every agency in the country, including local police, county sheriff's deputies and state police, plus agents from the FBI, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and Secret Service, there are only about 500,000 officers.

"Reduce this figure because of off-duty days and only 300,000 men are available in a 24-hour period. When divided to cover three eight-hour shifts, the number narrows to 100,000 officers per shift for the entire 50 states.

Chief Damos continued, "Again, divide the remaining 100,000 men by 50 and you are left with only 2,000 law enforcement personnel available in each state, at all levels, to fight the rising tide of crime in this country.

"Another set of statistics for you to consider is the increase in persons killed in homicides and through other violent acts, excluding accidents. In 1960, a total of 23,040 individuals was murdered or died through violent acts, and in 1971, this figure was 17,760.

"There were 12,170 persons murdered in 1967, the last year the death penalty was invoked," he commented. Damos stressed that the International Chiefs of Police organization is determined to increase its efforts to stop the crime rise.

"I recently attended a meeting of Interpol (International Police) in France, where 133 countries were represented. Violent crime and drugs were the two main concerns in every country at the meeting," Damos said.

A program called "Crusade Against Crime," which includes citizen involvement, can be a real deterrent against crime, he said, noting many local police departments have information on the program.

"People must get involved and cooperate with the police. One of the reasons I am very pleased to be here tonight is to meet with parents who are concerned about their children and are supportive of the police.

"Explorer Post 104 has a fine reputation and I am pleased to see the support given by local, township and county officials to this fine post. I have two sons, and both were law enforcement Explorers in a post similar to 104. One of my boys is now in the

Governor Jim Thompson and Secretary of State Jim Edgar have confirmed that they will attend Thursday's Lincoln Day Dinner.

Morton Blackwell, personal aide to President Ronald Reagan, will be the featured speaker. Several local candidates also will be in attendance.

This annual event has drawn the attention of many national and local leaders, according to Kent Holsinger, Granite City district chairman. Tickets may be purchased from any Granite City Republican precinct committeeman, he said.

The event will be at the Lewis & Clark Restaurant, on Route 3 in East Alton. There will be a cash bar from 6:15 to 7 p.m. and a buffet at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person.

Jobs, safety debated at hearing on barges

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With nearly 50 persons present Thursday night in the Granite City Township Building, the merits of a barge fleet installation proposed at Chouteau Island were debated for three hours and 15 minutes.

A decision is to be made in April or later by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) on whether to issue a water quality permit for the project, situated immediately upstream from a major public water supply intake.

Proponents led by National Marine Service, Inc., said the storage of up to 112 barges here would be a boost to this area's economy and employment. They stressed that safety would be emphasized.

Opponents led by the Illinois-American Water Co. sought to raise doubts about the favorable nature of a barge fleet's impact, citing past leaks and spills into the Mississippi River. They noted that no specific job or hiring estimate has been given.

Much of the discussion focused on the adequacy or inadequacy of water pollution reporting, monitoring and cleaning.

Many exhibits, photographs, charts, statements and studies were entered into the voluminous record of the hearing, which was conducted by Stephen C. Ewart, technical advisor for IEPA water pollution control enforcement programs.

Additional statements will be accepted until March 18 by the state agency in Springfield.

Receipt of 40 letters about the barge plan prompted the IEPA to schedule the hearing, which brought out sharp differences of opinion.

Opponents included the Sierra Club

Blocking, punching, kicking, striking and breaking holds will be taught. Ages for the class are from 7 through adult.

Beginner and intermediate-advanced classes will be held from 8 to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, beginning Tuesday, March 2. The fee for eight weeks is $28 for non-members and $22 for "Y" members. The class will be held at the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave.

GC Jr. Service plans projects

A party was hosted by the Granite City Junior Service Club for "probie" members at Hope Lutheran Church, Monday evening.

Those attending were dressed in keeping with the title girl theme.

Plans for the event were finalized at a monthly club meeting conducted by Mrs. Brenda Weckman, president, at the Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Other programs and projects discussed included a couples night out with Paula Weaver and Sue Riess serving as co-chairmen and a progressive dinner set for April 3. Mrs. Rose Ann Bates will provide the hors d'oeuvres, Mrs. Riess the main course and Linda Badger is to serve dessert.

Cathy Mitchell and Linda Gordon were appointed to plan the annual Easter egg hunt on April 3 for the children of club members only. They announced a winner roast will follow the hunt and there also will be favors and games prizes awarded.

Mrs. Betty Nighossian and Mrs. Joyce Curran will make final arrangements for the Santa's Breakfast fund raising project, with Mrs. Weckman, Cathy Mitchell and Paula Weaver to furnish the favors.

The traveling apron, made by Joan Wachter, given to Paula Weaver and Mrs. Weckman will receive the garment next, it was noted.

Hostesses for the evening were Linda Badger, Linda Gordon and Donna Polivick. The homemade attire was furnished by Peggy Willavert and was worn by Mrs. Weckman.

Those serving as January hostesses were Paula Weaver, Joan Wachter and Betty Nighossian. Others present were Karen Niebur, Gail Miotky, Joella Harris, Flora Mae Lensing, Wilma Eddington, JoAnn Waymire, a guest, Donna McBride and Pam Reed.

4 Nameoki Democrats are opposed

Political differences that exist in Nameoki Township are reflected in the rivalry for Democratic precinct positions March 16.

Committees with ballot opposition are Joseph Garcia (Precinct 3), James F. Counts (4), Mrs. Helen M. Hawkins (5) and Walter J. Spitzmiller Jr. (12).

Eugene "Geno" Presley, 2129 Dawn, is running against Garcia, who resides at 2244 Miracle. Both Counts and his opponent live in State Park Place, Counts at 3200 Harvard and former Madison County Board member Homer Boothman at 3808 Fairmont.

Mrs. Hawkins, 2800 Angela Drive, is a member of the Nameoki Town Board currently running for a county board position. Her precinct foe is Gerald L. McKeehan, 2640 Angela.

In Precinct 12, Spitzmiller, 24 Meadowlark, is being opposed for committeeman by Nameoki Assessor Carl Macios, 78 Cambridge.

Four of the present dozen Nameoki Democratic committeemen are unopposed for re-election in the primary voting this month.

They are Precinct 1's Robert E. Vincent, 25 Victoria, Pontoon Beach, 6's Jerry Adams, 2875 Buenger, 8's Highway Commissioner Frank Mehlke, Rural Route One, and 8's Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry A. Briggs, 4205 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

Unopposed Nameoki Democratic voters filed for committeemen in four precincts where the incumbents are retiring from their parties.

Jon Presley, 1931 Harris, Madison, will replace Precinct 2's Charles "Bud" Skinner; Bill Fowler, 23 Tulip, will succeed 9's Ronald Hastings; Otis T. O'Brien, 15 Jones Park, will replace Nameoki 10's Loren L. Madison; and Sylvia G. Thuis, 330 Arnold, will succeed Precinct 11's Arthur L. Thuis.

(represented by Vincent Lopinot) and State Senator Sam Vadala, who heads the Mississippi River Parkway Commission. State Representative Sam Wolf voiced concerns he has heard expressed by Quad-Cityans. Articles on their comments appear elsewhere in this issue.

Among those favoring the proposed barge fleet were Coast Guard Captain Alexander Tanas, regional commander, and Robert G. Goodwin, who represented the American Waterways Operators association.

Also speaking for the fleet plan were Jim LaBitt, National Marine Service assistant director of engineering, who gave a photographic slide presentation, and David Humes of M. B. Corlew and Associates, Edwardsville, who showed drawings of the Chouteau Island site. Opponents of the barge project who testified included William Shea, an Illinois-American attorney, and Clarence Black, American Water Works Service Co. director of water quality.

Appearing for the IEPA was Thomas McSwiggin, manager, Permit Section, Division of Water Pollution Control. One of the many in the audience voicing questions was Helen Hawkins, a member of the Nameki Town Board. She said there might have been more local residents present, except for the fact that they knew there would be representation by officials like herself, Sen. Vadala and Rep. Wolf.

A National Marine Service spokesman countered by saying there were almost no interested local residents present, and that the legislators' appearance at the hearing might have been related to the approaching primary election.

Eugene Ahlenhoyer, president, Shipyard Division of National Marine, told the gathering that "National Marine Service, Inc., was founded in 1927 primarily to engage in the transportation of petroleum products for Shell Oil Co. on the East Coast, Great Lakes, Gulf Coast, and inland river system."

"In 1952, a diesel engine repair and parts facility was established at Hartford in Chouteau Township, and in 1958 the company started a shipyard at Hartford."

"This yard has grown through the years so that it now employs over 400 people and has a capital investment of over $20 million," he related.

"Our shipyard at Hartford is one of the largest full-service repair yards on the river. It has drydocks, a cleaning and gas free plant, wheel repair, engine repair, barge repair, machine shop, fabricating shop and engine parts."

"In conjunction with the shipyard, National Marine operates floating areas—parking lots for barges. "It also operates five tug boats which service the docks located in the area. These tug boats move barges in and out of its shipyard and fleet."

"Due to loss of floating space in the Lock 27 pool taken up by the construction of new Lock and Dam 26, National Marine has purchased land with 3,300 feet of river frontage on Chouteau Island."

"We have conformed to all of the requests made by various governmental agencies, and have spent over $100,000 in order to get necessary environmental and other studies made to obtain a floating permit from the U.S. Corps of Engineers."

"National Marine has been able to satisfy all of the agencies and people involved except one company. "We've done everything that we can to satisfy the needs of the Tri-City area that our fleet would be absolutely safe and no danger at all to the environment. We have an excellent safety record."

"We're not the only company. National Marine is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Nicor, whose principal subsidiary is Northern Illinois Gas Co., the nation's fifth largest gas utility."

"Nicor is a $2 billion a year company, listed on the New York Stock Exchange."

"Many of National Marine's employees live in the Granite City area. We want to become part of the community. You'll find we are good citizens and we provide new jobs for the area," Ahlenhoyer asserted.

Robert Jackson, Granite City district manager of the water company, noted that its Chouteau Island water intake dates back more than a half-century.

"The pumping station was built in 1927 and it supplies each day over 30 million gallons of water to up to 300,000 residents in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties."

"National Marine intends to build a floating area for up to 112 barges 510 feet upstream. The by-riding area would be on the same side of the Mississippi River as our pumping station."

"The water company objects to this proposed site. We are concerned that it creates a potential hazard from an accidental spill."

"We fear contamination of our source of supply within one or two minutes due to a mishap involving one or more of these barges."

"National Marine states in its revised permit application that 'barges loaded with liquids, salts, waste and other similar materials will not be permitted in this area.'"

"According to this statement, no hazard will exist—now or later—that would adversely affect the quality of water entering our system. We say this would be satisfactory if it were an absolute guarantee," Jackson told the audience.

"But what if something goes wrong? What if one to ten years from now someone doesn't get the message that no liquids, salts, waste or other similar materials are permitted in this area?"

"As close as these barges would be to our intake, a spill of any magnitude would be drawn into our system within minutes."

"Some petroleum products and chemicals affect water quality when the concentration of pollutant reaches only one part per billion and even one part per trillion."

"There are those who may say the water company is over-reacting, but what about some of the accidental spills we've heard and read about just in the past few years? Will the safeguards at this location always be adequate?"

"Barges certainly fulfill a worthwhile need. However, the water company has fulfilled a worthwhile need from this location on the river for more than 50 years."

"We feel there is surely a more suitable place for a barge parking lot than at the mouth of a water intake that supplies an essential service to 300,000 people, including numerous hospitals, industries and the military facilities of the Granite City Army Depot and Scott Air Force Base."

"The water company requests that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency give permission to build this barge floating service at this location because it is too near our intakes."

"We must make every effort to maintain a source of supply that will satisfactorily produce a clean, pure, potable water—free of objectionable tastes and odors—both now and in the foreseeable future," Jackson concluded.

Post 10-4 since the group was formed 13 years ago. Senator Vadala recently was cited in the Illinois Police Association magazine for his work in the Illinois state legislature in support of law enforcement and anti-crime legislation.

Brimberry's assets sought

The cash and tangible assets of Thomas R. Brimberry, 37, of Granite City are the targets of a petition filed Friday by Harry O. Moline Jr., trustee for the bankrupt Stix & Co. stock brokerage.

The brokerage was declared insolvent Nov. 9. Brimberry, its senior vice president for operations, has not been seen since then and is said to be under protective federal custody.

Moline asked for a court order directing Brimberry to turn over $14 million in cash or securities "wrongfully diverted" from the brokerage, or any assets he acquired with the diverted funds.

The petition in the bankruptcy court is the first move by the court-appointed trustee to force any former officer of the firm to help pay clients who lost savings and investments.

Federal authorities estimate that up to $36 million in securities and cash were taken through use of false securities, altering of records, and removal of assets from the brokerage house in downtown St. Louis.

Brimberry had income of $1 million or more in some of the years from 1975 to 1980, the Internal Revenue Service is reported by the trustee in court documents, and during that time he spent and gambled large sums. He blames himself and four others for wrongful actions.

No one has been charged, and it is now said that indictments may be issued in "early spring," with others to follow next fall.

Among the assets being sought is a mansion Brimberry had built on Westmoreland Drive. It has been used this winter as collateral for second mortgages to help pay his defense attorneys.

Moline also asked U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Robert E. Brauer to create a trust controlled trust account to handle the liquidation of any securities, bank accounts or real estate established or purchased by Brimberry.

The trustee is willing to sue others but has not yet decided which persons to include on his list, other than Brimberry. He alleges that the Granite Cityman used money from Stix to buy real estate and personal property and to establish bank accounts.

Moline wants the court to instruct Brimberry to identify all of his assets and financial interests, estimate their value and disclose their current locations.

Brimberry would be required to "identify and provide the residence and business addresses and telephone numbers of each and every person known to you to be holding property in which Stix has a direct or indirect beneficial or legal interest."

Beer sale to minor alleged Faye J. Kirgan, 45, of 2401a Kate St. was charged at 12:45 a.m. Saturday with selling alcohol to a minor.

The arrest took place at Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameki Road, near where Joseph Plebanek, 18, of 5 Devon Hill was charged with possessing beer.

Police alleged seeing him leave the building with a brown paper bag and walking to a blue pickup truck occupied by two youths, 17 and 19 years old. The two in the vehicle were questioned and released.

Plebanek said he did not show, nor was he asked for, any proof of age. The minimum age for alcohol purchases is 21.

The lounge employee recalled the sale and said she was shown a driving license. The youth denied it and no license could be found on him, officers said.

Mrs. Kirgan and Plebanek were freed on notices to appear later for their hearings.

As with everything, there are two sides to the question of borrowing money. Some say: Never borrow. Pay cash for everything. In today's economy, which is right and which is wrong?

A. In today's economy and, in fact, in all economies, the best advice is to seek the middle ground between the two extremes. There is certainly nothing wrong with borrowing money—when you really need to, and can afford to pay it back within a reasonable amount of time. And, of course, if the cash is on hand, and all other needs are provided for, with a little put aside for emergencies, there's certainly nothing wrong with paying cash. If a situation comes up which is really difficult to decide to pay cash or borrow, talk with someone who can look at both sides objectively and give you good, sound professional advice.

Henkhaus wants party to open its financial records

Reporting $26.55 income in 1981, Madison County Treasurer Michael S. "Mick" Henkhaus at a press conference Friday challenged his challenge. He said he was a member of the Democratic party to make similar disclosures.

"I want to make this opportunity available to the citizens of Madison County a copy of my 1981 personal tax returns," he said. "My sole means of income is what I make as Madison County treasurer."

"I hold no other political positions nor do I have any financial interests. My total income is as listed in my federal tax return."

In addition to this personal release, I am challenging my opponents in this race to make the same disclosure.

"And let me take that one step farther. I challenge the official leadership of the Madison County Democratic machine to do the same and to make the records of the Democratic Party public."

"I take these actions for a number of reasons. It is important to make the difference between myself and my opponents clear."

"As I mentioned, I hold no other political positions. My sole job, my only interest, is working for the people of Madison County."

"Both of my opponents now hold political positions and both have outside sources of income. Fred Painter works for a local business and is part owner of a tavern in Granite City. Robert Still is a township supervisor, a member of the Madison County Transit District board, and a building contractor."

The relevant question is this: Do these other political positions indicate allegiance to groups other than the people?"

"And, if either of these men is elected, will he give up his political and financial interests to work for the people of Madison County?"

"I work only for the citizens and owe my allegiance to them. I work for the people, not the party bosses. And I can tell you, being Madison County treasurer is a full-time job."

"In reference to the party records and the party leadership, the people deserve a disclosure there as well. Some in the machine think the county Democratic party is a private social club."

"They think they can conduct business in private and do anything good. It doesn't."

"In light of the record of the machine and because the party supposedly represents the people, their records must be public."

"I'm talking about a full, detailed record of receipts and expenditures."

"Because of the loopholes in federal and state election laws the party is not required by statute to make a complete disclosure."

"But if they have nothing to hide they should help advance the spirit of openness. Questions must be raised and answers must be provided."

"The party demands a 'lug' and charges thousands of dollars for an endorsement. Where does the money go?"

"Who contributes? Why are detailed records not provided? And what are the records of the party bosses? What outside interests do they have?"

"They should also be accountable to the people."

"So today I make this disclosure and offer these challenges to my opponents and the party. I ask them to follow this lead and open the way to open government in Madison County."

"If the people can't expect open conduct, then they can't expect open government."

GC receives sales tax payments

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Sunday was the deadline for major businesses with large retail sales to turn over their first 34-percent sales tax collections to the Granite City Department of Revenue.

Petrillo, who is in charge of sales tax collections, said Friday that his department had collected about $30,000 that day—the last city hall business day taxes had to turn in the big stores.

He said he ordered the amount as doing "pretty well." His department was still receiving calls late Friday from some businesses claiming not to have received a return form.

Petrillo said that as long as the returns were postmarked by midnight Saturday, they would not be considered tardy.

The city treasurer predicts the final revenue generated for the first month would be about $55,000 and $60,000. City officials had estimated average monthly receipts at about $50,000.

The lower collections for the first month did not surprise Petrillo, with

Some merchants balk at supplying all the data

"January being a bad month for business," due to the heavy snowfall hampering the activities in the area.

Another factor is the number of smaller businesses that only have to pay sales taxes they collect on a quarterly basis, rather than monthly.

Protests seem to be limited, according to Treasurer Petrillo. Approximately four merchants gave the treasurer returns with an attached form letter stating that compliance with collections should not be misunderstood as an acceptance of the validity of the sales tax ordinance.

The form letter was composed by attorneys representing auto dealers Woodmore and Jack Mathews, who earlier had filed a successful suit against the city's previous one-percent sales tax. That tax was declared illegal. Woodmore said the form is a protective legal step to insure his right to file a suit at a later date, although neither he nor Mathews are actively considering filing a suit now. He said, however, that other merchants are considering such action.

Other merchants were protesting for reasons other than the tax itself. Some retailers are refusing to give the city treasurer's office copies of their state's Retailers' Occupation Tax reports, as required by the city sales tax ordinance.

The form causing the protest is written by the Illinois Department of Revenue and must be sent to the state as part of its own sales tax collection procedure. The information required by the state form is more extensive than the city's form.

Granite City earlier had directly requested the state to supply the city with information on the state forms, but the state refused. The city can use the state forms to gauge the amount of retail sales of each local business.

Petrillo said one merchant had "zeroed in" his state tax form. He said others had complained about the requirement. "There's going to be a problem," the treasurer said, if merchants refuse to give the city copies of their state forms or falsify information. "Some of them we may have to take to court if they don't give us the information we want," he said.

Petrillo estimated the annually revenue resulting from the sales tax at about $1.2 million. "If we collect that, we'll be doing well," the treasurer commented.

Pretreatment program due for 2nd 'green light'

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

While residents watch for their sewage treatment bills to escalate, the Granite City's fledgling pretreatment plan program due to receive its second green light from the Granite City Council tomorrow.

Significant cost savings—who may be getting more benefits from the plan than revenues they return—will be monitored more closely as due to an ordinance which is due for a final council vote.

According to plant superintendent Terrence McMillan, the city can expect the pretreatment plan to perform built-in detective work needed to track down mystery toxic dumpings which sometimes produce hazardous and costly results.

The ordinance bonus will be a more accurate picture of what sort of loads each industry is asking the plant to process.

The superintendent pointed out another current problem the ordinance may help prevent in the future. He said there are a number of occasions when equipment that the plant is "upset" and the performance standards degraded, due to illegal dumping of destructive wastes.

A lengthy pretreatment program ordinance setting specific limits of what toxic or hard-to-treat substances can be discharged into the plant was approved by the city last year. The EPA requires the city to start implementing the pretreatment program by July.

The plant superintendent estimates that within 90 days of approval, the city could receive the monitoring equipment needed and begin the program.

The current ordinance amends the original pretreatment plan to include the actual cost of sampling, equipment administration and operations to be charged to the plant's 19 major industrial users. The amendment was given unanimous council support last week.

If given final approval, each industry will be charged a one-time $1,865 equipment charge, allowing the city to buy $36,310 in monitoring equipment. A continuing administrative charge of three cents per 100 cubic feet of wastewater discharged also will be levied.

Industries will also be charged a $200 permit fee. The costs of required wastewater sampling tests, varying from user to user, will be determined on an individual basis.

The administrative charges would cover a portion of McMillan's salary, a part-time inspector to be hired or trained for the existing staff, and any other employee's time needed.

"There has been little criticism and little comment," said McMillan, about local reaction from industry. He said industry has been kept "very informed about the program."

An engineer's survey revealed that Granite's wastewater treatment plant annually receives about 25 millions gallons of wastewater flow that is suspected to be of an industrial nature, but is not reported.

(The figure does not include another unrecorded $3 million gallons that may be from home usage. Since residential users are billed by household and not water meter, city can only use tables to estimate home use.)

The residential table errors and flow that is unaccounted for add up to a 25 percent difference between accounts of wastewater flow sources and the actual workload of the plant.

The pretreatment program might tell the wastewater plant operators when to look for the source of the unreported wastewater.

Another industry-related "mystery" factor the pretreatment work may help track down is the source of approximately 3.5 million pounds of BOD (biochemical oxygen demand) and suspended solid components in the wastewater that come into the plant unreported.

McMillan said a rigorously operated pretreatment program with highly trained staff would be a "significant" revenue factor at the plant. "Anytime there is an unsatisfactory discharge at the plant, it is in violation of the federal and state EPA permit," McMillan.

Last year, the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant reported that it had a 100 percent violation rate that is a relatively low percentage figure, but still "far too high."

Team effort Opposition to judges' retention

—Robinson

Accomplishments of the Metro East Sanitary District have been a "team effort" by employees and until the Republican party is represented among the elected circuit judges or appointed associate judges, Dr. Edward Ragsdale said last week.

The county GOP chairman said that, with all judges in the county now Democrats, the "judicial system is out for reform." He said representation by both parties is needed for "balance and fairness."

With Dr. Ragsdale's backing, John Dale Stobbs will head a judicial improvement committee. The panel will "develop a body of facts about judicial problems and offer constructive solutions."

The Madison County Bar Association on Thursday night reaffirmed its belief that all judicial candidates running for office in 1982 are qualified to serve as judges, including Circuit Judge George M. Evers III, who are unopposed for March 6 nominations to oppose each other Nov. 2.

The stand for the two candidates contrasts with an Illinois State Bar Association poll of lawyers in Madison and Bond counties. The poll called both unqualified.

Judge Moran said, "The political of course, the lawyers are entitled to their opinion."

"But I don't have much faith in the validity of the thing, and I'm really not too concerned about it." He said many lawyers have told him they did not receive ballots from the State Bar.

Evers, an assistant state attorney, said, "I never expected that I would be asked to run for judge. The whole thing is political. Obviously, the politically powerful and rich lawyers don't want me to be a judge."

Senator opposes barge plan

Local legislators voiced objections and safety concerns regarding a barge fleet proposed for Chouteau Island at a public hearing in Granite City, Thursday night.

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene said at the hearing that "a review of the barge fleet proposal reveals a number of adverse ramifications the operation could have on many residents of the Tri-City area."

"The potential for serious adverse consequences dictates that I speak out against the permit being considered by your office. I do not speak out against the importance of barge traffic, nor the general need for barge fleetings areas."

"However, it is critical that the activities of the barge operation be integrated into the multitude of other uses being made of the river's natural resources."

"One such use, in this case, is a water supply just 800 feet downstream from the proposed fleetings area. An accident in this fleetings area could, within one to two minutes time, contaminate a water supply system whose quality is essential to the health and safety of thousands of users."

"I can appreciate the efforts made by the applicant to modify its request to minimize the dangers created by the fleetings location. However, when we learn the details of these potential dangers, as explained by the representative of the Illinois-American Water Co., I do not believe we can gamble with accidents caused by an act of God that could impact the health and safety of the residents in the area."

"In my everyday duties as a state senator, I deal with legislation intended to improve the health and safety of my constituents. As such, I cannot condone an activity with this potential of jeopardizing their welfare."

"I speak to you as a person wearing two hats," Vadalabene continued. "One, as a senator concerned about the welfare of those I represent, and the other as the chairman of the Illinois Mississippi River Parkway Commission."

"In the latter role, I am concerned about the visual quality of the Great River Road as well as the recreational opportunities that utilize the river resources. "Testimony by fishermen, boaters, and picnickers describes the adverse effect the proposed fleetings location would have on their activities."

Also, the concerns of these people must be weighed against the needs of the barge industry, we must keep in mind they are talking about the natural resources of the river valley that cannot be ignored or accommodated progress."

"As I said, we must integrate the barge activities into the overall use of river-related resources."

"In my opinion, the location of the proposal does not achieve the goal. Therefore, I ask that an alternate location or a revision of the present site be sought that does not intrude upon an existing use of this great water system's resources," the senator concluded.

State Representative Sam W. Wolf thanked the Illinois EPA for "responding to the requests of many individuals, including myself, that a public hearing be held."

"There are several concerns by many persons of this community with regard to the application for a barge fleetings permit."

"First and primary is the fact that the proposed site is 800 feet upstream from a water intake system of the Illinois-American Water Co., a utility furnishing water to 300,000 residents of the Madison-St. Clair counties area."

"In my letter to your office Dec. 14, 1981, I attempted to point out some of the concerns expressed to me, as well as to acquaint you with details in my discussions with the Corps of Engineers, the Coast Guard, and representatives of Illinois-American."

"This operation with a fleetings capacity of 112 barges, eight abreast, 14 rows deep, compacted into an area spanning a distance of well over a half-mile — located just a few hundred feet upstream from an intake water system servicing hundreds of thousands of citizens — would certainly seem to justify the concerns previously indicated," Wolf asserted.

"A response from your office Dec. 15 indicated that the original permit application by National Marine had been amended to prohibit the fleetings of liquids, waste materials, salts or other similar cargo at this facility."

"It was also indicated in your letter that primary responsibility for monitoring fleetings activities at this facility would be that of your office supplemented by the marine safety office of the Coast Guard."

"I think we would all agree that 90 percent of any monitoring would be done by the Coast Guard. Yet, in discussions with that office, they readily admitted that facilities would not permit more than a two- or three-day per week surveillance."

"Subsequent information indicates consideration is being given to closing some of the local Coast Guard facility. The question arises as to what happens to the monitoring system of this proposed operation."

"It is not my wish or desire to obstruct or hinder commerce in any way, or to prevent the location in the area of any facility that will contribute a partial solution to our employment problems."

"It is, however, I believe, our responsibility to make sure that every caution is exercised to insure a responsible operation and that a concerned public is protected to the extent possible in every conceivable way," Rep. Wolf concluded.

Competition has developed for three precinct committee positions among Venice Township Democrats. The races will be held in the March 16 election.

Mrs. Valeta Baader, 708 Third St., Venice, the incumbent Precinct 1 committeewoman, is opposed by Earl W. Hogan, 221 Kerr, Venice.

Doris Baker, 1329 Robin, Venice, the Precinct 2 committeewoman, also has ballot opposition—from Richard King, 526 Washington, Venice.

With Casey Krakowicki retiring as Venice Township Precinct 3 Democratic committeewoman, there are two candidates for his party office—Thomas R. George, 1703 Elizabeth, Madison, and "Andy" Economy, 838 Alton, Madison.

The other eight Democratic committeemen are seeking re-election and are unopposed on this month's ballot. They are: Precinct 3's Eddie Lee Sashind, 93 Hill, Eagle Park; 4's Andrew Watts, 521 Meredocia, Venice; 5's Alderman Don Garrett, 401 W. 2nd, Madison.

Precinct 6's Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, 1423 Fifth; 7's Madison City Treasurer Hilbert Hoekstra, 1700 Second.

summer camp personnel in life-guarding, water safety or counseling, also will meet with interested students at 3 p.m. in the International Room.

Other companies may have career positions open or be interested in contacting summer employees, Van Horn said.

For additional information, interested persons may contact University Placement Services at 1-692-2800. Admission is free and the event is open to the public.

UNIVERSITY ARREST Apprehended by SIUE police, William T. Parker, 25, Alton, was booked in Granite City at 10:30 p.m. Thursday on a 1981 warrant alleging disorderly conduct.

Reading tips for parents to aid young

Parents can and should supplement a child's reading instruction in the home, according to an article in the current issue of PTA Today, the magazine of the National PTA.

Joseph C. Johnson II, head of elementary education, Montana State University, offers these suggestions to help parents improve their child's reading:

—Read some of the child's material beforehand; then give him a list of purposes for reading, but don't overdo it.

—Read to beginning readers, but first tell them the important parts and then discuss those parts.

—Include youngsters in family discussions.

—If reading rate is a problem but mastery of basic skills is not, encourage the child to read at a rate that is just a bit uncomfortable.

—If the child moves his head while reading silently, hold it gently but firmly and tell him to move his eyes only.

—If the child reads word by word, ask him to read aloud before a mirror as though giving a speech.

—If the child squints or rubs his eyes while reading, check with an ophthalmologist.

According to Johnson, though reading should be an important activity in the home, parents can do little to develop a child's reading proficiency if he has not acquired the following five skills:

1. Attentive listening habits.

2. The ability to speak in complete sentences and follow detailed oral instructions.

3. Reading from left to right.

4. The ability to distinguish between letter sounds and letter combination sounds.

5. A mental list of words that he knows and recognizes in print.

Local BPW winner advances

Barbara (Kennerly) Young, 1981-82 winner of the Individual Development Program "Speak-Off," sponsored by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, competed yesterday in the BPW District XIV speak-off.

Local winners from most area BPW clubs vied for district honors at Sunday's conference at the Oasis in Carrollton, Ill.

The IDP plan is designed to help participants better understand BPW objectives and programs and develop leadership.

Additionally, the course is geared to increasing an individual's self-confidence, developing her potential and building new interest in her career, life and BPW activities.

Mrs. Young is a former member of the Job's Daughters and was assistant commodore of a sailing club in college.

Coordinating the eight-week IDP series for the local club were Celestia Puryear and Florence Moore, co-chairmen.

Mrs. Young is current membership chairman of the local BPW club and also participated in the IDP series.

Mrs. Young graduated from Belleville Area College as a certified operating room and emergency room technician.

She also has completed courses at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville toward a nursing degree.

A member of the local BPW since 1977, Mrs. Young presently is serving as chairman of the Young Careerist Committee and recently coordinated the CAP program, in conjunction with the Granite City Rotary Club, which involved placing 150 high school freshmen in job situations of their choice with local business firms.

She has served as "Sidewalk Sale" chairman and as a member of the finance, public relations and other committees.

MADISON OPEN DAILY

Catholic School Week observed

Sacred Heart St. Joseph's School celebrated 1982 Catholic Schools Week, emphasizing the theme, "The Good News in Education, Catholic Schools."

The celebration commenced with a prayer service, at 8:30 a.m. One day, a "fun day" was enjoyed by all the students, who were urged to wear something red and white, depicting the school colors. In the afternoon, the Rev. James Shortall, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, treated the entire school to a skating party at Stoppotte's Rink from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The final day parents and interested parishioners from both parishes were invited to visit the classrooms to view a typical school day in session.

Corridors displayed students' compositions, "The Good News in Education" and What Makes A Catholic School Catholic," explaining individual thoughts. Samples of students' work in various school subjects were displayed in the hallways.

The "Good News in Education" Throughout the school, colorful decorations of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and the Liberty Bell, were exhibited.

After visitation of classrooms, an all-school mass was offered by the pupils. The student-planned liturgy of the mass took the theme, "Keys," symbolizing the opening of the "Good News in Education."

Expressing this theme, attached to the front of the altar, were the red-lettered words, "The Good News in Education," Catholic Schools, displayed on a white banner, written by Keys on which were written the attributes of Catholic Schools, cheerful, active, caring.

Eighth grade boys took the lead in the mass celebration by assisting Rev. Shortall as mass servers, along with the eight grade girls singing in the choir, accompanied by guitarist, Kathy Turk.

At the entrance procession, a treasure chest with keys and symbols inside were placed at the bottom step in front of the altar by a first grader, in conjunction with the theme of the mass, "Keys." In the offertory procession, second graders brought bread and wine to the front of the altar to be consecrated.

After communion, the eighth grade participated in the commissioning rite in which the students presented each attending adult with a memento of the celebration. Selected hymns were, "God is Building a House," "Earthen Vessels," "Yahweh, The Faithful One," "Though the Mountains May Fall."

At the homily, Rev. AAA Maintenance—

3 charges after parked car hit

An auto driven by Gary W. Barnhart, 22, of 2412 Grand Ave. is alleged at 2 a.m. Friday to have hit the rear of the parked car of Grace Peterson of 2133 Ohio Ave. in the 2300 block of State Street, the back of the parked auto of Pete Zellovich, 2256 State, in front of 2253 State and then the rear of the parked car of Georgina Lindsey, 2259 State.

The Lindsey vehicle was pushed by the impact across curbing and into the front yard of 2248 State.

Barnhart was charged with reckless driving and two counts of leaving accident scenes.

A reckless driving charge also was filed against his passenger, Steven Burns, 21, of 14124 21st St., who was the driver when police halted the auto in the 2400 block of Grand Avenue.

The two were released after posting their driving licenses as bond.

When Fr. Arensen pleaded innocent, Judge O'Neill ordered him released on a $2,000-cash-value recognizance bond, with the warning and stipulation that he not go on or near Hope Clinic property until after he is tried on the trespassing charge.

The 135-pound, five-foot, seven-inch tall priest has often demonstrated against the clinic, participating in lines of sign-carrying marchers and once endeavoring to physically hamper free access to it, the clinic contends.

Fr. Arensen opposes abortions and asserts that a typical clinic's impact on the number of human births can reach astounding levels. Clinic officials say they provide needed services, serve a wide geographic area, and conform to existing laws and court rulings.

In the incident Friday, it is alleged that he entered the parking lot while carrying an anti-abortion sign, and talked with some of the patients.

When the executive director asked him to leave the property, he declined to do so and shoved the sign near her face, she told authorities. It was at this point that she summoned police and signed a state complaint form.

Farm materials handling show is this week

The annual Southern Illinois Farm Materials Handling Show, tomorrow through Thursday, is expected to be the biggest in the event's 21-year history.

The exhibition, a showcase for the latest in farm and farm home automation, will be at the Washington County Fairgrounds in Nashville, about an hour's drive from Granite City. Admission is free.

More than 100 indoor exhibit spaces have been filled, said show coordinator Richard Patterson, who is an assistant professor of agricultural mechanization at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. There also will be several outdoor exhibits.

"This will be the largest show in the history of the exhibition," Patterson said. "In cooperation with the Washington County Fair Board, we recently increased our heated, indoor exhibit space by more than 15 percent."

Exhibits at the show this year are expected to include energy-saving and solar energy displays, in addition to the traditional farmstead machinery and equipment.

The show is sponsored by the SIUC School of Agriculture, the Cooperative Extension Service, the Illinois Farm Electrification Council and area private and cooperative power suppliers.

Sierra Club calls barge proposal dangerous

The plan for a barge floating facility here was called a "significant danger" at a hearing, Thursday night.

Protesters associated with barge floating can include loss of habitat as wetlands are dredged or disturbed, many homes are threatened, river banks are eroded, and trees used for mooring are uprooted; usurpation of fishing and hunting sites.

Priest arrested near GC clinic; judicial warning

Father Edwin F. Arensen, a longtime critic of the Hope Clinic for Women located near 21st and Iowa streets, Granite City, was arrested there and taken to the Granite City Jail Friday.

The Catholic priest, 65, of Rural Route One, Adelleville, Ill., was charged with trespassing on the clinic's land on a complaint signed by Laura Moody, Hope Clinic executive director.

Initially held at the police building, where he declined to make a telephone call, he was taken to the City Hall at 11:30 a.m. Friday to appear before Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill.

When Fr. Arensen pleaded innocent, Judge O'Neill ordered him released on a $2,000-cash-value recognizance bond, with the warning and stipulation that he not go on or near Hope Clinic property until after he is tried on the trespassing charge.

Mississippi River, existing and proposed barge floating operations significantly conflict with other uses and values of the river.

"Problems associated with barge floating can include loss of habitat as wetlands are dredged or disturbed, many homes are threatened, river banks are eroded, and trees used for mooring are uprooted; usurpation of fishing and hunting sites.

"Interference with the use and enjoyment of adjacent park and wildlife refuge areas; noise and odor pollution near residential areas; blocking of public access to the river.

"Water pollution from activities such as barge cleaning, leaking barges and dumping of cargo residues; and a potential for a catastrophic breakaway barges and inadequate mooring.

The Sierra Club thanks you for your interest in the address you here tonight. We have some real concerns about the proposal of National Marine to have these areas addressed.

One of the principal concerns of the Sierra Club in this proposed barge floating operation is its proximity to the raw water intake of the Illinois-American Water Co.

"In the event there was a spill or some other contamination of the water supply, up to 300,000 people could be affected. This would occur without warning because of the location of the intake. The danger for a great number of people is significant.

"During the process of permit evaluation, National Engineers did deal with the biological sensitivity of the area. We feel that this issue, it should be accumulated prior to a decision on the merits.

"Another concern of this project should be the location of crude oil and aviation fuel pipelines under the river near the proposed floating area.

"The Shell Oil Co., which owns one of the pipelines, noted the dangers involved in this project in April 2, 1981, to the Corps of Engineers.

"Shell mentioned their experiences with other barge restrictions in the operation manual exclusive?

"Could cargos other than loaded salt, liquid, solid waste and refuse be prohibited? Or would the proper approach to be list what is permitted? It is noted that no barges would be cleaned at the site, no wastewater would be discharged there also.

"Another concern with barge floating would be its effect on water quality by way of the mix-up of river sediment. An increase in the movement of barges and tugboats in this area would increase the turbidity of the water and involve the resuspension of pollutants and other particles near the Illinois-American intake.

"The terrestrial and aquatic habitat Evaluation Study prepared for National Marine noted that data on the sediment of this project was lacking. We might ask whether that report has been evaluated by someone on the Illinois EPA staff with the necessary expertise.

"The Versar Report prepared for the Corps of Engineers did deal with the biological sensitivity of the area. We feel that this issue, it should be accumulated prior to a decision on the merits.

"Another concern of this project should be the location of crude oil and aviation fuel pipelines under the river near the proposed floating area.

"The Shell Oil Co., which owns one of the pipelines, noted the dangers involved in this project in April 2, 1981, to the Corps of Engineers.

"Shell mentioned their experiences with other barge facilities located over their pipelines. The prop wash of the tugs erodes the river bottoms, exposing the pipeline. Exposed pipelines are subject to puncture by metal objects or anchors.

"The accumulation of metal on them enhances corrosion. Damage or a break to a pipeline so near a public water intake could be disastrous.

"This concern has been noted in the correspondence in this case and mentioned in National Marine's Operation Manual but it is not clear what would or could be done to prevent damage to the pipeline."

Loplin continued, "Concern has been expressed about the possibility of physical damage to the water intake of Illinois-American. In its letter of Oct. 14, 1981, the IEPA asked questions about the condition of an emergency as set forth in the operations manual of National Marine and what response would be taken to prevent damage to the intake structure."

"It does not appear that these questions have been answered. What are the emergency plans in particular and what is being done to prevent breakaway barges?"

"If the IEPA should approve the application of National Marine, there is one remaining question. How is this operation to be monitored? There is no reason to believe that National Marine will not comply with the text of its operation manual and heed the regulations of the IEPA and Corps of Engineers."

"However, we feel that it is in the public interest that this facility, if approved, be monitored to insure compliance. The risk to the public health by way of its water supply is too great to allow the barge operation to police itself."

"We have noted from the correspondence that the Coast Guard has agreed to monitor the site 2 or 3 times per week, year-round. What are the IEPA and Corps have in the monitoring? Will their checks of the site be by schedule or on a spot basis?"

"These matters should be resolved. Further, how would the proposed operations work? Would the responsibility include matters contained in the correspondence up to this point? Would there be other conditions attached to receiving a permit from the IEPA?"

"The barge industry is having economic problems like many other industries. It is clear from recent newspaper articles that some operations are having trouble finding places to store their empty barges."

"It is clear, however, that a proposal such as this must be examined carefully and weighed against the other uses and values of the river. A short-term economic gain for the barge industry must be weighed against everyone's long-term use of the river."

"There are many factors that must be taken into consideration that are beyond the purview of this hearing. Among these are conservation, economic, aesthetics, historic values, land use, recreation, energy, safety and in general the needs and welfare of the people."

"We ask that the IEPA carefully weigh all the factors expressed here tonight before making its decision in this matter," the Sierra Club spokesman concluded.

Tornado week in the rubble.

When a tornado threatens, immediate action can save lives. Stay away from windows, doors, outside walls and protect your head.

In homes and small buildings—go to the basement or a place in the middle of the house, like a closet, bathroom or interior hallway. Get under something sturdy.

In schools—be calm and follow the directions of the teacher. Get out of and stay away from auditoriums and gymnasiums with wide, huge roofs that could collapse.

In shopping centers or very large buildings—look for a predesignated shelter. If none is available, a middle hallway on the lowest floor is the next best place to take shelter.

In mobile homes or cars—leave them and find shelter in a building. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the closest ditch or under a culvert with hands shielding the head.

If a tornado should hit, remain calm—panic never helps. Most tornadoes are short-lived, lasting only four or five minutes and passing only on the ground for two miles, on the average. Closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Check immediately for electrical problems and gas leaks and report to utilities or fire departments if danger is imminent.

Heavy rains can follow a tornado, so secure your property from further damage or theft. Contact your insurance company immediately if damage is extensive. Take an inventory of the damage to speed up a settlement.

If you have not suffered damage, be a good neighbor and help those who need it. But, do not telephone directly into or visit a disaster area. Reports will be broadcast, so let the rescue work proceed, unhampered by spectators and curiosity seekers.

Do not enter a building damaged by a tornado until you are sure it is safe and will not collapse.

Use only approved or chlorinated supplies of drinking water. Be cautious, food may contain particles of glass or slivers of other debris. Discard canned goods with broken seams.

Get food, clothing, medical care or shelter at Red Cross stations or from the Emergency Services and Disaster Agency if necessary.

Notify relatives of your safety to avoid local authorities wasting time trying to locate you. Limit telephone calls to one minute each and do not tie up lines if needed for emergency calls.

Cooperate in the general clean-up of debris. You are responsible for cleaning debris from your own property. During repairs and clean-up, always wear shoes and gloves.

Do not sign contracts for repair work, removal of rubble or new insurance without consulting authorities.

Tornadoes can strike Illinois at any time. That's why Governor James H. Thompson has proclaimed today through next Sunday as Tornado Preparedness Week, Koenig said.

The objective of the week-long observance is to inform all Illinois residents of the value that preparedness planning has in increasing personal safety, should a tornado strike, the director noted.

Further information on tornado preparedness is available free of charge by visiting the Granite City ES&A Office at police headquarters, 2330 Madison Ave., or by calling 877-3157 during office hours.

pollution control program back to its previous level and returning to direct federal funding. While not specifically objecting to the Brewer's option, the state would not give the city a direct answer.

"The entire federal funding picture is very clouded and we believe both the state and the city should await future developments before making these decision," stated Goodwin.

As in the past, the state will have the option of cancelling the contract if their inspections indicate the city is not carrying out its air pollution control duties.

The new contract will require the city to conduct 10 plant inspections and investigations and "observations of major emission sources." The city also will handle pollution complaints and conduct special surveillance activities of "serious air pollution incidents."

The state will take over the city's air monitoring.

Brewer's new air pollution control program budget includes $44,234 for salaries and fringe benefits, including a 10 percent increase in the city's third of the salary of the secretary for the city's combined engineering, inspection and air control department. According to state funds would be made available for 50 percent of the salary costs, but places a ceiling of $9,325 for salaries from February through June.

In Champaign...

Smith finished third in AA State competition

THE WINNER. Granite City North wrestler Steve Smith is recognized as Class AA third place winner after he defeated Jack Berg of Hoffman Estates Saturday in Champaign.

CHAMPAIGN — In the end, when all the points were tallied, members of the Granite City North and South wrestling teams managed 27th and 58th place finishes in Class AA State Wrestling team standings respectively. One-hundred Class AA teams were represented.

Chicago Heights-Bloom Trail won the AA team title with a total of 72.5 points. Carol Stream (Glenbard North) finished second with 61.5, followed by Waukegan (East) with 60.5. North accumulated 24 points, while South managed nine.

While both teams have registered more successful State finals in previous years, 1982 should be considered a success for both schools.

For North, Steve Smith (37-3-1) wrestled to a third place finish in the 119 pound weight class. Smith made it to the championship semi-final round before losing to Rob Warren (36-4) of Roxana. Warren, two matches later, won the State championship.

In Smith's match against Warren, Smith led much of the match one to nothing. But, with only seconds remaining in the match, Warren managed a takedown to secure the match two to one.

For the record, and not to take anything away from Warren, it should be mentioned that during the course of the season, Warren and Smith met on three occasions.

The first time, during the Holiday Tourney at Granite City South, Warren won by virtue of a referee's decision—a match decided by the referee at the end of an overtime session when both wrestlers lie. At that point the referee awards the match to, in his opinion, the wrestler who was most aggressive during the match.

Their second match, a dual match at North, ended in a five to four decision in favor of Smith. The final match ended with a similar conclusion, only a week prior in the finals, when again Smith emerged the victor six to four.

"I'm still happy with the outcome," Smith said after wards.

"It's a lot better than I did last year. Besides, Rob's a friend. If I can't win, I hope does," Smith said.

Warren had a similar respect for the 119 pound Steeler.

"I knew it would come down to the wire between Steve and I sometime. I was the lucky one this time. This time I got the breaks. I only wish it could have come down to the two of us in the finals," Warren said.

If anything, State competition gave North's coach Walt Whitaker and South's coach Bill Schmitt an opportunity view their potential State wrestlers for 1983 in such competition. One potential State returner for next year is 98 pound Steeler Colin Davis.

Davis, whose long and lanky frame when intertwined with that of an opponent, brings to mind a spider pouncing on its prey, and often has the same result, should be someone to be reckoned with in the 1983 State finals.

The last such Steeler to wrestle as successfully in the 98 pound category was Kris Whelan. Whelan won the State title in 1977 for North.

"I think Davis can be another Whelan, if he works at it," Whitaker said. "He's got all kinds of ability. He just needs to work at it."

Davis, (36-6) defeated two before falling to Tim Meagher (33-2) in the championship quarter-final round.

For Schmitt, success in 1983 will come in the form of 155 pounder Jon Frangoulis.

Frangoulis, 29-7, made it to the championship quarter-final round before falling to Sam Staker of Pekin (33-5-1). He later succumbed to Jeff Fuller of LaGrange in the first round of the wrestle-backs.

Schmitt dubbed the brawny Frangoulis' ability to get take downs as his major strength.

Unfortunately, for the remainder of the Granite City wrestlers, the weekend was not as pleasant.

North's Rod Unger (33-3-1) had difficult time with Urbana's Steve Johnston (35-1), losing in his first match 13 to three.

wrestling

He managed one victory, defeating Michael Hogan (23-3) of Chicago (Marshall) in the preliminary round of the wrestle-backs 20 to one, before falling to Victor Hall (21-3) of Rock Island in the first round of the wrestle-backs.

Steeler Scott Corey had an equally difficult time in State competition, falling to Reggie Wilson (32-1) of Chicago Heights in the 155 pound preliminary round.

Warrior Ken Dowdy managed a six to three victory over Antonio Tureaud (4-2) of Chicago (Tilden) in the preliminary round before falling to Mike Kraft (40-0) in the first round 17 to seven.

Kraft went on to win the State championship in the 167 pound class.

The final wrestler competing over the weekend in Champaign was 185 pound Warrior Dave Brown.

Brown (25-10-2) lost a decision in the preliminary round to Mike Sudduth (34-6) of Evanston 18 to six.

Lovejoy eliminates Red Devils in regional

By ROGER KRAMER

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
DUPO — When you size things up, Venice should not have defeated Lovejoy 64-60 Nov. 22 in the East St. Louis Senior High Thanksgiving Tournament. The Wildcats also didn't think Venice was better and were out for revenge.

Lovejoy, led by 6-11 Barry Sumpter, decided it would use its size to intimidate Venice in the semi-finals of the Dupo Class A Regionals Thursday. Lovejoy got its revenge by defeating Venice 74-59 and earned the right to play Madison in the championship game.

"Our players and I thought we should have beaten them the first time we played them," Lovejoy coach Clinton Davis said. "They (Venice) shot the ball exceptionally well the first time, and we were still trying to put things together. We worked hard for this game, and our boys really wanted to get them back."

Venice coach Ken Perkins also noted Lovejoy really wanted this game.

"They came out and scouted us a lot, and they played like they scouted us a lot. They controlled the tempo of the game."

"They were very well coached for this game, and they were a lot bigger than us and they wanted to beat us. High school ball is a mind game, and they had their minds up for this game and we didn't," Perkins said.

There was a big difference in the way Venice and Lovejoy played. Venice shot well in their first meeting, but shot poorly in Thursday's game. Lovejoy's height didn't intimidate the Red Devils the first game, but the superior height did so in this game.

Lovejoy had a 18-14 lead going into the second quarter and had increased the lead to 26-20 with 3:29 left in the quarter. Perkins called time out and tried to regroup the Red Devils. However, Lovejoy led 37-22 at halftime.

"We called time out when they took an eight point lead. I told them we were losing the tempo and we had to get it back quickly. We didn't, and we were soon 15 down," Perkins said.

"When we tried to get the ball inside, their height intimidated us..."

Ken Perkins

Barry Sumpter, Lovejoy's 6-11 junior center, scored nine points in the last 3:40 of the period to take Venice out of the game. Sumpter was the turning point of the game for the Wildcats.

Sumpter was held to 11 points for the game because he didn't play most of the second half, but his presence in the lane offensively and defensively killed the Red Devils.

"When we tried to get the ball inside, their height intimidated us. Sumpter blocked one of our big man (Gary) Davis' shots that was it for him, and Milton. I don't know what happened to him," Perkins said.

The closing of the inside game forced Venice to go to the outside game in the second and third quarters. The outside shooting was poor. In the second quarter, Venice made four of 16 shots from the field, and in the third quarter, Venice made only two of 14 field goal attempts.

Venice had few second chances at the basket because of Lovejoy's dominance of the boards. "We controlled the pace of the game. The kids were really rebounding well," Harris said.

"Our outside shooting wasn't good. I saw we were intimidated inside and we had to go outside. When those shots don't go in, you get frustrated and say 'gee whiz' and keep on trying and hope they start falling in," Perkins said.

The shots did start to go in a little more frequently in the fourth quarter, but by that time it was too late. Venice trailed 56-51 after three quarters and only a miracle could have saved Venice in the fourth quarter.

Lovejoy showed it was more than a one-man team. Cedric Davis led the Wildcats with 19 points. Willie Kidd, Lovejoy's reserve center, scored 17 points, Lovejoy guard Edgar Finley scored 11 points and Walter Simms scored 10 points.

"Davis really hurt us the most," Perkins said. "I've never seen him play like he played tonight in any of the other games I've seen him in."

Meanwhile, Venice only had two players in double figures. Sophomore Eddie Salmond led the Red Devils with 18 points, and William Watts had 15 points.

"I think one thing we were lacking was team leadership," Perkins said.

Warrior cagers split

Granite City South split a pair of basketball games over the weekend defeating Bethalto Friday night 66 to 47, but falling to Belleville East Saturday night, 77 to 59.

South was plagued by turnovers in its last to East in Belleville. Although East lost the ball 36 times, South committed 36 turnovers.

"Saturday night we just weren't sharp. Maybe you can give credit to Belleville East for taking away what we wanted to do," Don Deterding, South's head coach said. "It seemed like every third time down the floor we threw the ball away."

South's shooting was also cold from the floor hitting only 38 percent of their shots. East meanwhile, shot 57 percent from the field.

Pat Linhart led South with 14 points. Kenny McManus added 11 points and Joe Schnefke chipped in 10 points. Schnefke also pulled down 15 rebounds, an individual game high for South this season.

"I really felt our poise and

Granite South

composure wasn't there. That's why we lost the ball 36 times," Deterding said. "We lost our semblance on the floor. That was the most disappointing aspect of the game."

SOUTH 66, BETHALTO 47.

In Friday night's game at Bethalto, South out scored Bethalto 22 to eight in the fourth quarter for the lopsided victory. Going into the fourth quarter however, South only had a five point lead.

Although South's lead was never in jeopardy throughout the game their play was inconsistent and lax.

"We weren't as mentally prepared as we should have been. Maybe we were looking past them — towards Belleville East," Deterding said. "It took its toll, they beat us to the ball."

For the first three quarters Bethalto dominated the boards. When South finally controlled the boards in the fourth quarter they were able to break open the game.

Linhart scored 26 points to lead South. Jim Petty added 12 points.

"Pat's (Linhart) really came on the last eight or nine games for us," Deterding said. "He's shooting with a lot of confidence. We feel we have to give him the ball to shoot 20 to 25 times a ball game. He's really done the job for us."

Deterding was not very pleased with his team's play over the weekend to end the regular season. South finished the regular season at 8 and 14. He knows their play will have to sharpen in order to beat East St. Lincoln Wednesday night in the first round of district play.

"We're going to have to work on our passing game. They're awful awesome," Deterding said.

"We'll be a little more conscious against Lincoln. They'll be quicker."

Madison comes back to win Regional title

By ROGER KRAMER

DUPLO — Mark Zarr needed just four words to describe the main reason why Madison defeated Lovejoy (Brooklyn) 52-47 Friday to win the Dupo Class A Regional tournament.

"We're a team, we're a team, we're a team," Zarr, Madison's 6'6" center, said while celebrating the championship.

It's difficult to disagree with Zarr's assessment of the Trojans. Madison trailed by as much as seven points in the first half. Madison made just 16 of 46 field goal attempts in the first three quarters. Most teams would fall apart with that kind of bad luck.

Not the Trojans. Madison played aggressive defense for four quarters. Even as the offense struggled, the defense got tighter until the offense was able to get going again.

"I'm really proud of the way we came back," Madison coach Larry Graham said. "I thought we were under a lot of adversity tonight."

A lot of the troubles Madison had came because of Lovejoy's 6'11" center Barry Sumpter. Madison was forced to go to the outside often in the first three quarters. The Trojans didn't hit many of those outside shots, putting them in a hole.

"He (Sumpter) certainly did hurt us. I was disappointed with the way we let him bother us," Graham said.

Zarr, who had to contend with Sumpter on both offense and defense, said, "He's tough. His elbows come up to my head, and I know because I got a few elbows to the head."

In the first half, Madison made nine of 29 field goal attempts, far off the Trojans rate of 47.4 percent this season. On the other hand, Madison's 1-2-2 zone variations prevented Lovejoy from pulling away.

For the game, Madison forced 24 Lovejoy turnovers while making just eight. Half of the Wildcats' turnovers came in the first half.

Lovejoy's final turnover of the second quarter was one of the turning points of the game. Danny Stern, who came in for Madison point guard Billy Papa, stole a pass and was fouled on his way downcourt. Stern made both free throws with 1:20 left in the quarter to cut Lovejoy's lead to 24-21.

Just more than a minute earlier, Lovejoy had its largest lead of the game.

In the third quarter, Sumpter had broken a 32-all tie with a lay-up and two free throws, but Madison stopped Lovejoy from taking the momentum away and pulled away from the fading Wildcats.

Zarr made a 10-foot jump shot with 39 seconds left in the quarter, and Madison got the ball back on a bad inbounds pass.

The Trojans worked for the last shot. Shannon Manson shot and missed, Zarr shot and missed and got his own rebound, and Zarr passed to Carvel Claggett, who made the shot to tie the game.

Madison stole the game from Lovejoy in the first three minutes. Claggett made a three-point play with 7:32 to go, and a minute later scored again. Zarr made a pair of free throws, and Mark Madgett scored with 5:03 left. By that time, Madison led 45-36.

"Zarr's pass out to Claggett, and Claggett's early baskets got us going," Graham said.

"We played our hearts out," Claggett said. "If we could keep things going on defense, eventually our offense would get going."

Even though Madison scored just one more basket in the game, the Trojans had the game in hand. The Trojans made 15 of 20 free throws in the final four minutes.

Papa, an 81 percent free throw shooter, made nine of 10 free throws, all in that span. Papa made just one basket in the first three quarters.

"If we can get the ball to Papa or Claggett, then we have a good chance in that situation. When Papa takes over, his free throw shooting is just one aspect of the game they have to contend with," Claggett is also a good free throw shooter," Graham said.

Balance was the key word for the Trojans. Claggett led the Trojans with 18 points and Papa and Madgett both scored 11 points.

"Claggett and Zarr turned out to be our leaders," Graham said. "They've really come one like gangbusters in the last month of the season. They've been able to play well and get the respect of the other players."

"Claggett's the more vocal leader, while Zarr's been our quiet leader. Both of them have played really well, and they've helped our other players to do better."

Sumpter scored 21 points for Lovejoy, the only Wildcat to score in double figures.

Madison, 21-5 for the season, plays Vandalia Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the first round of the Vandalia Class A Sectionals. In Wednesday's semi-final game, Stanton plays Hillsboro. The two winners play for the championship Friday.

"I don't know for sure what to expect from Vandalia," Graham said. "It's going to be interesting to see how we do."

The Trojans have already played Hillsboro this season. Madison defeated the Hilltoppers 82-62 Feb. 6.

For the game, Madison made 20 of 54 shots for 37 percent, and Lovejoy was 21 of 48 for 44 percent.

Steelers lose two basketball heartbreakers

By ROGER KRAMER

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY

Granite City North

basketball coach

Bill Ohlendorf said the Steelers'

main flaw in the latter part of the season was not playing a full 32 minutes of basketball.

The Steelers once again

came a couple of minutes

short, and Alton took advantage of the lapse and defeated North 67-66

Saturday at Granite City

South's gym.

On Friday night, the Steelers lost to Roxana 66-57.

The Steelers came up a few minutes short in that game

as well.

"We've been omitting a few minutes of basketball

each game the last couple of weeks, and we have to play

the full 32 minutes. We have to be much more intense if we're to be successful in the regionals," Ohlendorf said.

While Granite City North

Alton stopped another one.

The Redbirds broke a five game losing streak, and perhaps more importantly for them, won a close game.

"We've lost five in a row and all of those were close games we could have won,"

Alton coach Stan McAfoos

said. "This is one of the few times that we've won in such a situation. When you lose a lot of close games like we have, your kids start getting down."

"I'm glad we got out of here with a win," McAfoos added.

Alton would not have left

Granite City with a victory had it not been for a couple of lapses on the Steelers' part.

For instance, the Steelers had the momentum with six minutes left when they had taken a 54-40 lead, but Alton scored four points in 21

seconds on baskets by Rick

Taylor and Ron Twichell.

The Steelers' other lapse came with four minutes left,

and that one lasted for two minutes. Again, Taylor and Twichell scored the baskets and led 62-60.

The Steelers took the lead back with free throws by

Carl Luehmann and Darren

DePew, but Taylor scored

what proved to be the winning point for the Redbirds with 52 seconds left.

Taylor went up for a lay-up and North's Steve Tritschuh

fouled him. The basket was good, and Taylors made the free throw to give Alton a 65-

64 lead.

Alton stole the ball from North, and appeared to have the game in hand, but

Tritschuh and Luehmann

trapped Twichell for five seconds, and North got the ball at halfcourt with 17

seconds left.

North got off a shot, but

Taylor got the rebound for Alton, was fouled, and made both free throws. As things turned out, it was fortunate for Alton he did.

North's Harold Rody made

a desperation shot from 45 feet away in the final second,

but it was too little too late for the Steelers.

"We got started standing out there on defense late in the game," Ohlendorf said.

"They slowed the ball down, and that lends itself to the defense slacking off."

Except for those moments,

the Steelers played a good game. The Steelers were shooting well, rebounding

well, and taking advantage of most of the breaks.

"I was happy we were able to come so close to beating

basketball

scored 11 for the Steelers.

North, 9-16 overall, plays

Edwardsville Wednesday in the first round of the Granite

City North Class AA

Regional. The tournament will be played at the South gymnasium.

The Steelers and Tigers

split during the regular season.

Taylor scores a lot of points, but he also gives up a lot of points a game,"

McAfoos said.

Taylor led all scorers with 22 points, Collier scored 14 points and Twichell scored 13

for the Redbirds.

Luehmann and Tritschuh

both scored 14 points to lead

the Steelers. Kendall

Whittington added 11 points to the Steeler cause.

ROXANA 66,

G.C. NORTH 57

Granite City North saw a

32-24 halftime lead disappear

in eight minutes, and the Steelers found themselves

trailing 41-40, after three quarters.

The Steelers couldn't quite make it up in the fourth quarter. The third quarter lapse was too much for North to come back from.

Rody led North with 18

points, Sullivan had 12

points, and Luehmann

GOING, GOING . . . In this photo sequence, Carl Luehmann of Granite City North got the worst of the situation. Not only did Luehmann get knocked down, but he was called for a blocking foul as well. Jim Baker of Alton is the ball handler.

Five 'good citizens' are honored by DAR chapter

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution), with Mrs. Barbara Williams, regent, presiding, held its annual George Washington tea in the parlor of Niedginghaus United Methodist Church to honor good citizens from five area schools.

These senior students are selected on qualities of leadership, dependability, service and patriotism. Students honored were Jeanne Trimmer from Granite City High School North; Janet Burnett from South; Kimberly Wiley of Venice High School; Tracy Champion, Madison High School; and Dean Voelker, Metro-East Lutheran High School.

After the regent welcomed members and guests, Miss Mildred McCormick led the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the invocation, given by the chaplain, Miss Eva Renfro. Mrs. Madge Hanson, vice-regent, introduced a six-member panel made up of lecherer up and present. The panel discussed the background and requirements of the DAR, as well as a resume of George Washington's achievements and impact on American history.

Following the panel discussion, Mrs. Williams turned the meeting over to Mrs. Janet Wilson, good citizens chairman. Mrs. Wilson gave a definition of a good citizen, as well as a brief history of his DAR award, started in 1934. She introduced the good citizens and their families and presented each student with a pin and certificate.

Jeanne Trimmer is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Trimmer, 106 Lenox Ave., Mitchell. She is an Illinois state Scholar as well as being listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students" in 1981.

Besides participating in plays and spring musicals, Jeanne has been treasurer of the National Honor Society, vice-president of Thespians Club, and editorial editor of the North High school paper. She has been a member of the math and debate teams. Kimberly Wiley, Venice High's good citizen, is the daughter of Mrs. Rosita Minor of 111 Venice Homes, Wiley and Robert Wiley Jr. She is a member of Student Council and the program chairman of her senior class. Kimberly also is the vice-president of finance for Junior Achievement. She has received achieve and attendance awards from Junior Achievement.

Janet Burnett of Granite South is the daughter of Jack and Martha Burnett, 4 Mercer Drive. She is vice-president of the Student Council and the National Honor Society. Janet was a member of the 1981 Homecoming Court and captain of the varsity wrestling cheerleading squad. She has been a member of Red Peppers pep club and statistician for South's soccer team.

Tracy Champion, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Champion, 1219 Washington Ave., Madison, was selected as Madison High's good citizen. She is president of the National Honor Society and Future Secretaries of America. Tracy is chief editor of the yearbook and captain of Madison's volleyball and pom-pom teams. She was one of five Illinois students selected to participate in an engineering seminar at the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Dean Voelker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Voelker, Troy was selected Metro-East Lutheran High School's good citizen. He is sports editor of the yearbook and

Lioness show, luncheon

The third annual "Fashion Show and Luncheon," sponsored by the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club, will take place Saturday, March 27, it was announced at last week's club meeting.

Plans for the show were reviewed by the project chairman, Debbie Durbin,

First child for former residents

John Curtis is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell (Marjorie) Spurlock of Woodbridge, Ill., for their first child, a boy, born on Jan. 21, at Hinsdale Hospital and Sanatorium.

The infant weighed six pounds, 14 ounces. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Spurlock, Granite City, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stogschild, reside in Decatur, Ill.

The father is a 1972 graduate of South High School and received a B.A. degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1976. He is employed as a computer programmer at Marshfield Inc., an advertising agency in Chicago.

who said the event will be held in the Kettler Center at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

All proceeds from the show and program book will be contributed this year to Hospice and the Meals-on-Wheels program, Mrs. Linda Schermer, president, announced.

Other areas at the local hospital have benefited from the Lionesses' previous style shows, including the pediatrics department. Tickets for both the luncheon and fashion show, costing $5 per person, may be purchased in advance from club members or at participating stores, starting this week, Mrs. Durbin said.

Models will be featuring a variety of spring and summer clothing styles from Boutique II By IG, Ruth's Store of Fashion, Stefanie Shop, Tops 'N' Bottoms Shop, and Fashions-By-Milady.

The public is invited to attend. All donations will go toward supporting both community programs, Mrs. Schermer stressed.

Canada is chapter program

Mrs. Linda Koenig conducted a program on Canada for members of Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, last week.

In order to cover the tremendous size of Canada, as well as its diverse people, plentiful natural resources and stable economy, Mrs. Koenig read pertinent and still applicable passages from a book written in 1936 by Stephen Butler Leacock. The author and his family immigrated to Canada from England when he was a child of five, she added. Following an academic career, the last 38 years with the prestigious McGill University, Leacock retired.

The guest speaker's reading was from a letter contained in the book which was an eloquent response to an invitation the author had received to return to England to live after an absence of 60 years. He described for the reader how he would miss the independence of Canadians, the grandeur of their country, and the near and closely akin neighbor, the United States.

In closing, Mr. Leacock wrote, "Thank you Mother England, but I don't think I will come home to you. I am home now."

Members met in the home of Mrs. Pat Tsigalaroff for the session presided over by Miss Marilyn Lumpkins. She read a notice of a "Four State Breakfast" to be held June 26 and 27, in Springfield, Mo. Detailed information will follow, the president noted.

The social committee chairman, Mrs. Arlene Haldeman, assisted by Miss Ruth Stoyanoff, surprised Mr. and Mrs. Phil Tsigalaroff with a special treat of snacks and wine in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Dolores Dorch, Terry Guldge, Carol Cathey, Jane Laule, Martha Dyer, Imogene Forrest, and Evelyn Tolliver.

The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Koenig at which time the members will remember their Beta Buddy with a gift to celebrate each member's birthday, it was announced.

Plans were made for members to attend the annual "Senior Fair" at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The event will take place Tuesday, March 23, it was reported by Mrs. Marie Stanek, secretary.

The afternoon hours were spent at games with Mrs. Ann Austin and Mrs. Ann Giese excelling and receiving prizes. A gift also was won by Mrs. Lucille Hedges.

A regular business meeting of the club was scheduled for March 11 at the township center.

Twenty-five couples attended a Valentine Day luncheon and meeting of the Italian-American Club, held last week at Tony's Restaurant, 1504 Madison Ave.

A business session was conducted prior to the luncheon, and later entertainment was provided by Nick Petrillo who played several selections on an accordion.

Several programs planned by the Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church, were announced at the February meeting of the organization, held last week at the church.

The project is sponsored by the Church Women United with a morning session to be in the Social Work department and a stress program in the afternoon.

"SCIATICA PAIN"

The pain of sciatica is so excruciating that sufferers cannot even find relief by confining themselves to bed. Pains in the low back and the backs of the legs results from inflammation of the large sciatic nerve. This in turn is due to spinal imbalance which causes a patient to lean to one side.

Leaning produces only a greater spinal imbalance and more inflammation. The more a patient tries to ignore the condition, the greater his spinal imbalance and his pain.

Correction of the cause of the spinal imbalance can be accomplished through chiropractic. Phone today.

Barbara Jo Glowacki, 2816 Wayne Ave., has been selected by the Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program to be included in the 1981 edition of the book.

The Outstanding Young Women of America program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 30 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, their professions and their communities.

Comments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership — qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered, according to the announcement.

This is the goal of the many leading women's organizations, college alumni associates and public officials who nominate deserving young women to participate in the program.

Serving as chairman of the program's Advisory Board is Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The local woman, along with approximately 23,000 fellow Outstanding Young Women of America, from across the United States, will be presented in the prestigious annual awards volume. From the state winners, the Ten Outstanding Young Women of America will be chosen.

The ten national winners will then be honored at the annual awards luncheon to be held this fall in Washington, D.C., it was noted.

Radcliffe Edmunds Jr., an assistant professor of economics at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will debunk myths about Japan's economy, in a discussion Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to noon. The discussion is part of the winter series of continuing education classes for senior citizens.

The session is scheduled in the Mississippi-Illinois Room on the second floor of the University Center.

Edmunds contends that nations have notions about Japan that aren't true. Cheap labor, borrowed technology and permanent employment haven't given Japan the competitive edge, he said. Edmunds attributes part of the success of the Japanese to their attitude toward long-term investments and effects. He will outline other factors in his discussion, which is sponsored by the Metro-East Institute of Lifetime Learning.

MAN STRUCK, HURT
Jeff Ely, 2627 Missouri Ave., suffered a long, bleeding cut behind the right ear at 11:10 p.m. Friday when a man apparently used brass knuckles to strike him, authorities were told. Ely had been walking toward his auto on the Tri-Mor Bowl parking lot. A suspect is being sought.

Others attending were Mesdames Robert McCauley, John Lentz, B. C. O'Neill, Charles Gandoria and Clarence Ethridge.

Members of Cloverview Garden Club agreed to donate funds to Garden Therapy, Scholarship Fund, Lincoln Memorial Gardens, Blue Star Memorial and World Gardening, at a monthly meeting hosted by Mrs. Kenneth Brakaw, 2216 Clinton Ave.

The hostess served a dessert luncheon prior to the meeting which was opened by President Mrs. John Jenkins. Contributions enables point accumulation to become a blue ribbon club, the president noted.

All members recited the club collect in unison followed by an announcement of a District V 30th anniversary meeting to be held on Thursday, March 25, in Jerseyville.

Mrs. Vern Seals is president of the newest club in the northern part of the district and will assist with the meeting, serving with Mrs. Arthur Busch, program chairman.

Mrs. Jenkins noted the yearbook planned theme for the year is Pursuit of Gardening, part 1, and the second part will be used for the 1983 year.

Mrs. Eldon Melkamp presented a program on "Let's Keep Our Birds," noting that the use of many pesticides are necessary and freely used but cause the loss of many birds.

She also said that the extreme cold winter this year has decreased the bird population and now is the time to keep the bird feeders full.

GC ambulance billing is in need of council review

Few persons do not know that if a low-income Chouteau Township resident is injured in an auto accident in front of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, in Granite City, the Chouteau Town Board is likely to end up paying for an out-of-town ambulance call, the same as if the person had become injured at home.

The unusual billing practices of the city's ambulance service, coupled with the current financial bind for the operation of ambulances adds to the question, "Who is subsidizing whom?" in the financing of Granite City's ambulance service. It seems to be a question which is bound to be debated by local cities, townships and village in the next few weeks.

Due to an administrative error last week, letters notifying mayors and townships of a proposed increase in basic ambulance fees and mileage charges were mailed to them, rather than being kept until the Granite City Council's ambulance committee had reviewed the proposed charges and made a recommendation to the city council.

That stirred up the furor a little earlier than had been anticipated—but the furor was bound to occur, eventually, anyway.

The simple fact is that the Granite City ambulance service is not a charity. The city does not have the financial resources to support it properly. The funding gap must be filled in, either by the taxpayers, by those who use ambulances or by a combination of both.

The most startling example of insufficient funding in the ambulance department is the lack of an operating paramedic program. Even though the city has trained paramedics and telemetric equipment capable of sending a patient's vital signs from the scene directly to doctors at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, lives could be saved with this equipment, but it sits idle. Valuable training is wasted.

Lack of money is the only thing keeping the paramedics from utilizing their hard-earned skills and expensive equipment. They contend that if they begin operating as paramedics under their current EMT (emergency medical technician) pay scale, they may not receive pay increases they deserve as paramedics for a long time, due to the city's cash bind.

Too many good EMTs are being paid less than the ambulance service to become firefighters or ambulance attendants in other areas, simply because the other jobs pay far better than Granite City's. It is unfortunate, Granite City has many good EMTs and most of the persons who have had reason to use their services praise their speed and efficiency.

Ambulances are expensive and trained medical personnel to man them are even more expensive, particularly when ambulances need to be manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The question is, who should pay for all this? Alderman Sam Whitmer contends the townships and cities outside of Granite City should pay substantially more as their share of the overall costs of maintaining and manning the city's ambulance service. He contends that ambulance runs to the townships and other cities lose money when the overhead costs are considered. He calls that "subsidizing" the townships and says that is wrong.

Dismissals harm crime victims, not the prosecutor

Bellevue News-Democrat—State's Attorney Don Weber is not the most popular man in the Madison County Courthouse. Not only is he a Republican in that bastion of Democracy, but he is outspoken and so aggressive that he often is abrasive.

So, it's not surprising that some officials might want to embarrass him. What is surprising is that at least one, Associate Judge Clayton Williams, let that desire get the best of him.

A Democrat, he dismissed 25 misdemeanor cases when representatives of the state's attorney's office failed to appear in court. Normally, such a failure would warrant dismissal of the charges, but the state doesn't have the right to keep defendants hanging around all day waiting for lawyers to appear.

On this day, Tuesday, Feb. 9, there were extenuating circumstances. Monday night had brought a heavy snowfall. Weber had talked with Chief Criminal Judge Andy Mateosian and understood the courthouse would be closed Tuesday.

Weber and Mateosian got their signals crossed, but the result was that none of Weber's assistants appeared in the courtroom. Defendants were there, and Williams dismissed their cases.

Weber was furious. He filed a motion to

The townships argue that the city would have to bear the overhead costs by itself, if the townships and other cities did not use the ambulance service, so money the townships currently devote to the overhead portion of the ambulance service is "subsidizing the city."

Pertinent to the argument is that Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships pay for ambulance runs serving their residents, regardless of where they became injured or ill. If a Nameoki Township resident, for example, is injured within the Granite City limits and he is unable to pay his ambulance bill, the township pays for an out-of-city call, as though that person had been picked up at his home.

The city blackmailed the townships into agreeing to guarantee payment of ambulance bills for their residents, giving them a choice of agreeing or losing ambulance service to their townships. All three area townships finally submitted to the demand.

Chouteau Town Clerk Patricia Polley has a point. There is no sense to the township paying the bill when a township resident is injured in the Granite City ambulance service. It is the city's responsibility for offering protection to people who are in the city, either shopping, working or for other reasons. If there was no guarantee of ambulance or agreement with the townships, the city would still provide that service within the city limits and would be "stuck" with the bill, if the person was unable to pay it.

A primary issue is that too few people are paying their ambulance bills. Some township residents who can afford to pay the bills do not have to. The township will pay the bills.

Some Granite City residents feel that they do not have to pay their ambulance bills because they have heard that the city's own collection procedures are woefully inadequate to force people to pay ambulance bills.

A 50-year-old of unpaid bills, some up to two years old, attests to the fact that the city needs to re-evaluate its procedures. No one should have to pay higher ambulance bills in the future because the city has been negligent in collecting past bills.

The system of charging bills according to where a patient resides, rather than where he or she was injured, also should be re-evaluated.

All Quad-City area residents should make sure that their health insurance policies pay for emergency transportation and should shoulder the responsibility of seeing that insurance companies are as prompt as possible, so the ambulance service does not have a large backlog of unpaid bills in the future.

Also, everyone should be willing to pay a little more for better ambulance service. Proposals to get the paramedic program off dead center and to pay the paramedics for their extra training, insurance and responsibilities should be given immediate consideration.

If Granite City wants to charge people more, the city could at least give the residents more protection for more money.

reinstates the cases, which he says include about 48 separate charges, eight involving driving under the influence of alcohol. One involves an accident with a critically injured victim.

Weber claims the judge had no authority to dismiss the cases; the judge says, "That remains to be seen."

The ruling clearly was uncalled for. That becomes clear when Williams is asked to justify dismissing cases in the middle of the proceedings that nearly tripled the entire area. His response: "The court is not impotent to impose sanctions on defendants, the state's attorney or other attorneys. That was a sanction."

On this point, Williams was a way to punish Weber. That seems an improper way for Williams to vent his wrath, because it is the public—not Weber—that is hurt. The people who suffer from Williams' ruling are the victims involved. Unless he reinstates the cases, those victims will have no chance to see justice done, and that's not fair. If he fails to reinstate them, he compounds the injustice.

What was that about pride going before the fall? We hope Weber apologizes to Williams for the mix-up and that Williams accepts the apology and reinstates the cases.

Hydrogen urged for U.S. fuel sufficiency

To the Editor: The Potential for Hydrogen as an Energy Source (ENR 1/29/82, p. 42-43) is a GAO (General Accounting Office) report to Congress that I hope will be read by all Americans who are interested in long-range national and world energy problems, and in real labeled "secret" are free on request, to any concerned citizen from: U.S. General Accounting Office, Document Handling and Information Services Facility, P.O. Box 6015, Gaithersburg, Md. 20878. That will be an important first step toward the creation of a solar-hydrogen economy."

It's going to take a sustained effort, over many months, merely to educate our legislators about the realities of the approaching "post-petroleum world." And the conversion itself, to a solar-hydrogen economy, will be a long and gradual process—a matter of several decades. Shouldn't we get started, now?

Buer seeks re-election in Nameoki

Republicans are outnumbered by Democrats in Nameoki Township, but the "grand old party" is not entirely inactive; two current GOP precinct committeemen are seeking re-election March 16.

Precinct 4's L. Michael Nance, 3213 VFW, State Park Place, and Nameoki 12's William Buer, 10 Eduardo, Granite City postal area, are running for new two-year terms.

There are three other Nameoki GOP committeemen at the present time but they are retiring: Precinct 8's Olivia Bourbon, 1000 Lake, Pontoon Beach; 10's Raymond Gray, 3801 Lake, Pontoon Beach; and 11's Sherwin E. Martin, 2173 Harrison.

Seven of the 12 Nameoki Township neighborhoods have no Republican committeemen and there are no candidates for those offices this month—Precincts 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7 and 9.

County may boost fees

Madison County officials said Thursday fees charged by the county may need to be increased in order to counter a "disturbing trend" in governmental costs and revenue.

Chairman William Little said the committee will start preparing the 1983 budget earlier than usual this year because it "promises to be a difficult budget."

County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields said that while the county's own revenues are rising at a rate of 16 percent while there has been no corresponding increase in income.

With reserve balances dropping and continuing heavy reliance on federal funds that may be cut, a county could develop by late 1982 or early 1983, Fields said.

Corporation's earnings rise

Post Corporation earned $3,408,000 or $1.37 per share in 1981, compared with $2,742,000 or $1.50 per share a year earlier.

Post's fourth quarter profit was $1,672,000, which compares with 1980 fourth quarter earnings of $1,770,000.

The profit figures are after amortization of goodwill, which in 1981 amounted to $36,000 or 28 cents per share. Cash flow totaled $7,015,000 or $3.85 per share.

Lower interest costs contributed all of the 24 percent increase in earnings, as higher operating results from the newspaper and commercial printing divisions were offset by lower profits in the company's broadcast division.

In late 1980, the company converted a major portion of its debt from bank loans with floating interest rates to long-term debt at 13 1/2 percent interest.

Sale of a suburban newspaper operation in Milwaukee plus settlement of a strike at the firm's Boston suburban newspapers contributed to better operating results in the newspaper division, a spokesman said, adding that the division's results would have shown improvement even without those events.

In the broadcast division, seeking demand for advertising on the company's stations combined with increased expenses squeezed profits.

Post owns and operates newspapers, broadcast stations and commercial printing plants in nine states, including the Granite City Press-Record and the Collinsville Herald.

We aren't going to make as many demands as we usually do. The first thing we want is our lost jobs back!

Feels savings by subcontractor may justify loss of local jobs at GC treatment plant

To the Editor: I am writing this letter in response to Thursday's Feb. 25 issue of the Press-Record regarding the excellent presentation, "as our Mayor Schuler put it," in regards to the speech of Terrance Kelehan defending sewer treatment plant employees.

I'll admit, I do respect this man's "stand by my man" attitude toward his employees. But, I do wonder, is it for political reasons and because of the officials' sons and relatives working at the plant that he is making such an issue of it?

In this same council meeting a business agent for Operating Engineers, Robert Young (not the movie star) referred to a Managerial Company Sub Contractor as "scabs." I feel Mr. Allen is paid a fat salary and can afford to make such statements, so long as he is a leader or business agent over all these men. But I feel this is a big competitive world and we all, when we get hungry and need work, will do anything for work to feed our dependents.

Ask me about being unemployed. I haven't had a salary for six months and what little I have saved is being spent first to exist in this world.

This is the reason I'm fighting to keep all these unnecessary taxes in our city down. I remember when our city hired local residents to pick up our garbage and these men lost their jobs as garbage collectors to a subcontractor, who came in and proved to the city that they could save the taxpayers money. The mayor at that time could care less about the men who lost their jobs. Also, very little publicity was given to the matter.

It seemed that none of our city officials' sons or their close relatives wanted to be a garbage collector. I didn't know of any employed for that job.

I also read about our city stickers going up, priced from $3 to $5—an extra $2 from about 40,000 residents should help to keep our taxes down. This I don't mind paying because it is a luxury item.

I was born, raised and will die in Granite City, and I love this city, although I can't say I like the way some of our politicians try to run and dictate to our local residents about anything we want to do in our city.

In closing, I say if this subcontractor can save our city tax raises and money, run this plant with 18 employees and retain the key employees of this plant, although we are not to tell this subcontractor who to hire, I say let us do it. We do not need any higher taxes put on the citizens of Granite City.

Governor's proposed budget contains '43 areas of pain'

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

There will be "43 areas of pain" in the proposed budget Governor James Thompson will present to the General Assembly Wednesday afternoon, Thompson said during a private meeting with newsmen Saturday in the Executive Mansion in Springfield.

Thompson said that during preparation of his proposed budget, he felt it essential to have a balanced budget, even though that means reduced funding to support elementary and secondary schools and institutions of higher learning, reduced mental health programs and other "areas of pain."

The pain could be eliminated or reduced, if the General Assembly would agree to raise some taxes, notably the liquor tax "a penny a drink," which would produce approximately $5 million a year. "For a penny a drink, we could restore all cuts in education, approximately $43 million. I think most people in the state would be willing to spend a penny a drink more for better education and better mental health," Thompson said.

Thompson said he will not try to urge raising of the state sales or income tax this year. "I believe that the General Assembly will not increase the state sales or income tax this year. The Legislature has refused to raise taxes in good years. They certainly are not going to raise them in a bad year and an election year," he noted.

The governor also said he will propose "one other small tax" Wednesday which will raise approximately $50 million to $60 million, but he did not go into detail about the form of that tax.

He hinted that it is not likely to be an additional tax on gasoline, because previous attempts to get the General Assembly to raise gas taxes have failed. "It's criminal what we are allowing to happen to our roads and bridges. We haven't raised that tax since 1969. The public is paying less gas tax now than in 1969, because we have more fuel-efficient cars.

"If we were willing to pay it (approximately a nickel a gallon more), the General Assembly would be willing to pay it to ourselves to drive on safe roads," Thompson asked.

The governor said the state cannot continue to draw on its reserves, which are depleted below the critical stage. "The General Assembly knows it. They can't play games." Speaking of the pending appeal for additional taxes to support education, mental health programs and other areas of "pain," the governor said, "I want their attention. If they want to increase income they can. If the Legislature is not prepared to give us more, that's the level of the state."

While keeping specific budget figures secret until after Wednesday's address to the General Assembly, Thompson said that numerous painful cuts were made in his proposed budget. Elementary and secondary education cuts of $1.7 percent are proposed and higher education appropriations are recommended for a $1.8 percent cut. Board of approximately $13 million on a $1 billion base.

"Every state around us has already cut schools before this year. They have taken the levels down from eight to 24 percent. Even if we cut schools by 24 percent, the magnitude is far, far smaller than our neighbors," he stated.

Other cuts are proposed in conservation, energy, nuclear, public health, administrative services, transportation, arts, Capital Development, Labor, Environmental Protection, Agency, Law Enforcement Commission and the governor's office, he revealed.

Areas of "pain" in the proposed budget include the closing of three mental health institutions, the dismissal of approximately 1,300 state employees, deferring of capital projects (which are on a six-month hold), eliminating museum grants, prohibiting the opening of new parks, eliminating some supplementary medical services and public television grants, reduced state police manpower levels, elimination of some public health grants, reducing the funding of retirement plans to 70 percent and deferring action on water resource projects.

Despite the cuts, there are some positive points in the governor's proposed budget, he said. A handout listing them noted, the poor will be protected, the elderly will receive more, abused and neglected children will be protected, infant mortality rates will drop, criminals will be kept off the streets, two fish hatcheries will open, there will be more money for community health and more day care slots for the working poor, funds for industrial training will be up, economic development will be emphasized, there will be more tax relief for farms and businesses and aid to local government will be increased.

Overall, the proposed budget, according to the handout, would result in a smaller state government, the tightest spending controls in 20 years, the state debt burden will decline, the AAA credit rating will be maintained, the budget will be balanced without assuming new taxes, the state will begin to rebuild its general fund balance and tax enforcement efforts will be increased.

Thompson said it has been traditional for governors in Illinois to keep their budgets "close to the vest" before presenting them to the General Assembly, but said that this year, he has gone to the people in numerous talks throughout the state to explain the proposed budget and "areas of pain" it will produce. "I don't want any surprises next Wednesday. No surprises," he concluded.

News notes

The Old Six Mile Historical Society will meet tonight at 7:30 at Tri-Mor Bowl, with Mrs. Loraine Bischoff speaking on antiques from the early years of this area.

Most of the family moves in the bi-state metropolitan area are from and to points within the area itself. The Madison County Community Mental Health Board (Law 708) has changed its meeting schedule to 7 p.m. on the first and third Monday of each month. It will meet this evening at the Courthouse in Edwardsville.

State gives 10th Arson Award check

The 10th award in the Illinois Arson Award program was presented Friday to Kelly Kirkpatrick, Miss Kirkpatrick, a 20-year-old resident of Dubuque, Iowa, provided information to Jo Davies County Sheriff Mario A. Specht and Menomonee-Danville Fire Chief Fred Jackson, whose men fought the arson fires on the arrest of three men who are being held on $10,000 bond each in connection with fires set in rural East Dubuque, Ill., on Jan. 13, 1982. The ten also are implicated in previous arson fires on Oct. 13, 1981.

Miss Kirkpatrick's award is significant for three reasons, "Carter said, 'first, she did not know there was an Illinois Arson Award program. Second, she provided the useful information without concern for her personal safety. And, third, this is the second annual Arson Prevention Week (Feb. 21-27) in Illinois.'

The Arson Award program was established by the Governor's Arson Advisory Board to encourage businesses having arson information to step forward. Awards in varying amounts are determined by the Illinois Arson Award Committee and draw from a $10,000 fund provided by the Illinois FAIR (Fair Access to Insurance Requirements) Plan Association, a consortium of insurance companies. Persons providing information which leads to an arsonist's arrest or to the suppression of arson in Illinois are eligible for nomination in the Arson Award program. City nations are accepted from Illinois law enforcement and fire service agencies, state's attorneys, and insurance companies licensed to do business in Illinois.

Miss Kirkpatrick was nominated by Tracy who attended the presentation along with Jo Davies County Sheriff Mario A. World Day of Prayer set Friday, March 5

The local unit of Church Women United will observe World Day of Prayer, Friday, March 5, at 7 p.m. at Nankemul United Methodist Church, Pontoon Road and Prairie Avenue.

World Day of Prayer is a worldwide gathering of Christian women of many traditions who come together the first Friday in March for an annual celebration. The service involves women in 150 countries and islands around the globe who affirm their faith in Jesus Christ and confirm their conviction that prayer and action are inseparable.

The World Day of Prayer celebration had its origin in the first day of prayer for Home Missions by lay women of the Presbyterian Church. Later it became an annual event, and eventually a global one. The International Committee, organized in 1968, designated Church Women United as the official sponsor in the United States.

From its beginning in 1941, the tradition of Church Women United has been to join prayer and commitment to action programs and projects which are in the tradition of Church Women United to Christ's mission at home and overseas.

Co-chairmen of this year's celebration are Dolores Vogeler and Ola Jones. According to the co-chairmen, the service for 1982 has been prepared by

Finding a job, and keeping it, are topics of seminar

A two-day seminar on finding a job and keeping it will be held Wednesday and Thursday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, sponsored by the SIUE student chapter of the American Society for Personnel Administration. "How To Get Where You Want To Be (and what to look out for along the way)" begins at 9 a.m. daily in the Centennial Room of the University Center. session at 2:30 p.m. will look at career planning and guidance, with John R. Hundley, second vice-president of personnel at General American Life Insurance Co.

Second-day sessions will concentrate on keeping motivated until the job is found, being assertive about looking, and knowing what federal and state laws effect employment.

Nance Byington, personnel representative of Monsanto Co., will lead a 1
